MRS. JOHN BROWN .- The wife of John MRS. JOHN BROWN.—The wife of John Brown, on taking charge of the remains of her husband, stated that she designed conveying him home with as little publicity or delay as possible; and she has performed this voluntary promise with thorough good faith. She has won the respect and regard of the entire South by the womanly delicacy and good sense she displayed while performing the duties of her trying mission.—Washington Star.

WESTMINSTER AN EXPENSIVE LUXURY .- The WESTMINSTER AN EXPENSIVE LUXURY.—The Dublin Evening Fost says: We have heard some surprise expressed that the honor of burial in Westminster Abbey was not paid to the body of Mr. Brunnel, as well as to that of his distinguished cotemporary. The reason, we understand, is a simple one. The honor costs £475, which was a trille out of the fortune of the childless Mr. Stephenson, but which was a sum worthy of consideration in dealing with the comparatively small inheritance of Mr. Brunnel's family.

A CHILD-LIKE CRIMINAL .- In Orangeburg, A CHILD-LIKE CHIMNAL.—In Crangeburg, S. C., lately, John M. Jennings, a boy only nine years old, was bailed in the sum of $4,000 to answer the charge of murdering Franklin Brown, a child only four years old. John might well say with Macbeth: "We are yet young in orime." A boy who could be guilty of murder at such an ago, bids fair to be a Nero before reaching maturity.

CINCINNATI, FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 9, 1859.

Celebration of the Birthday of the King of Slam.

The last advices from Siam give an account of the celebration of the birthday of the Somdetch Phra, the principal of the two kings of that country. The foreign consuls were invited to a dinner, at which the only other guests were the highest dignitaries of the kingdom and the members of the royal family. The dinner was prepared in a splendid hall, one side of which was closed by an immense aviary containing specimens of the most beautiful birds in all Asia, and on the other side by gold lattice-work, which separmost beautiful birds in all Asia, and on the other side by gold lattice-work, which separated the hall from a spacious court, occupied by dexterous jugglers and a number of elephants, which performed, under the direction of their keepers, the most extraordinary excesses and managements.

ergises and menœuvres. The King, who did not sit at the table The King, who did not sit at the table, made his appearance about the middle of the repast on an estrade prepared for him. The musicians, at his majesty's entrance, played several national airs, after which the grand officers of the palace, as a compliment to the consuls, unfuried a number of silk banners, on one of which was the inscription in Simusa. "Glory and friendship to France!" on ameso, "Glory and friendship to Francel" on another, "Glory and friendship to England!" and the same for all the other powers whose agents were present. The king then retired, but in obedience to his commands, at the termination of the feast, a mandarin conducted the consuls to the great pagoda of the palace, an edifice which strangers are very seldom allowed to visit.

seldom allowed to visit.

This pagoda, the finest in the kingdom, was built by Phra Na Rhale in 1675. It contains numberless ornaments, collossal golden idols, and the great golden dragon, which is about six feet long, and has eyes formed of huge diamonds, while its scales are represented by precious stones of immonse value. During the whole evening there was a continuous display of fire-works in the Siamese manner, generated. of fire-works in the Siamese manner, generally consisting of fiery dragons, eagles and horses, which fly through the air, and produce a very singular effect. On the following day the two kings reviewed the troops, in which Europeans were allowed to join. The boat of a French ship carried off the prize, consisting of a quantity of fruit, vegetables, poultry and eattle.

SUPERSTITION AND OPPRESSION IN JAPAN We find, says the Rev. Dr. Jenkins, in a letter from Shanghes, on the Japanese Empire, most perfect system of espionage exercised by an almost omniscient government; and if there be one subject more than another which they are averse to have brought before their people, it is the subject of Christianity. I am init is the subject of Christianity. I am informed that, until within a few years past, the Dutch, who alone were permitted among Western nations to hold any commercial intercourse with Japan, were required, on the only day in the year that they were permitted to go through the streets of Nagasaki, to trample publicly on the cross as an evidence of their hatred of that symbol.

Of all the governments of the far Pers that of their hatred of that symbol.

Of all the governments of the far East, that of Japan is probably the most perfect in its entire control of the people, who have scarcely any rights of their own. For instance, at the present day, a Japanese has no liberty to depart the country, and no liberty to read the Scriptures of Divine truth, which can alone make him wise unto salvation. When I was in Negasaki, a woman was in prison awaiting the order from Yeddo for her execution, because she had dared to accompany a Frenchman to China, and return to Japan.

As a specimen of the surveilance exercised over foreigners in Japan, I would mention that a day or two before I left, Mr. Liggins, the Episcopal missionary, attempted to purchase several books at a public bookstore, tendering the full price for each, but the only one they several books at a public bookstore, touchers, the full price for each, but the only one they would permit him to take away, was a small blank book! They had undoubtedly been forblank book! They had undoubtedly been for-bidden to sell any books to foreigners—and if so, the penalty would have been decapitation or garroting. The Governor of Negasaki re-quires to examine every book previous to giv-ing a permit for its importation; and this they do to prevent the introduction of Christianity.

THE TOTAL ECLIPSE OF NEXT JULY.—The total eclipse of the 18th of next July will be a very important one to the scientific world. The Director of the Dorpat Observatory was the first to remark that at the moment of obme free to remark that at the moment of ob-scuration four of the principal planets.—Venus, Mercury, Jupiter, and Saturn—will appear in the vicinity of the eclipsed sun as a kind of rhomboidal figure; a phenomena of such ex-treordinary rerity that many conturies will alapse before its repetition. Darkness will commence and terminate on the land, the localities being California and the shores of the Red Sea. Between these extreme points the eclipse will be visible in North America, from whence the moon's shadow will pass across the Atlantic and traverse Spain.

DESPREATE FIGHT BETWEEN A BEAR AND AN INDIAN.—Some two weeks since the body of an Indian, whose intestines were protruding, was found in the woods at Morristown, Brown County, Wis. A little distance from him lay a dead bear, which had been shot through the neck. It is supposed that after shooting him, the bear turned upon the indian, and, after a desperate fight, killed him, and then died itself from the Indian's ball. The bear weighed some four hundred pounds.

HEAVY VERDICT AGAINST & MANUPACTURING HEAVY VERDICT AGAINST A MANUFACTURING COMPANY.—A case which has been on trial in the United States Circuit Court, at Boston, for the past twolve days, between George Peabody et al., of London, and the Middlesex Mills, was brought to a close on Saturday, by a verdict for the plaintiff for $47,106 54. The suit was brought to test the title to a lot of wool purchased in Europe by Samuel Lawrence, just before the commercial panic of 1857.

A CHILD BURNT TO DRATH.—A little caugh-ter of G. W. L. Crock, aged about nine or ten months, met with a horrible accident, in Memphis, Tenn., a day or two since. The child had a newspaper in her hand, and during the absence of her nurse, crawled to the grate. The paper accidentally caught fire, which com-municated to the child's clother, and burnt hor fatally.

Taux Gentility.—No woman can be a lady who would wound or mertify another. No matter how beautiful, how redned, how cultivated she may be, she is in reality coarse, and the innate vulgarity of her nature manifests itself here. Uniformly kind, courtesy and polite treatment of all persons is one mark of a live woman, and of a true man also.

A Good Move IN BRITAIN .- The British government is about to abolish the system of purchasing commissions in its army, the price actually paid for a lieutenant-colonelcy of a regiment of horse having ranged from $60,000 to $50,000. The actual holders, in every case, are to be reimbursed out of the treasury for the purchase-money paid by them.

ANOTHER DUBL IN NEW ORLEANS .- A hostile meeting took place last week at the Oaks, be-tween two young Creoles named Berlucheau and Wiltz, the weapons used being small swords. The former received two severe wounds, one in the thigh and the other in the breast. Mr. Wiltz escaped untouched.

RELIGIOUS DISCONTEST IN ITALY. - The Florence correspondent of the Providence (R. I.) Journal, writes in a late letter:

I.) Journal, writes in a late letter:

I am surprised at the number of Italians I meet who frankly declare that they have not a particle of respect for the authority of the church in which they were born. Some of them go such lengths in their denunciations, that one who wishes to be governed by principles of fairness, is obliged to warn them not to get so far beyond the bounds of moderation as to do violence to religion itself. There are others, who, as good Catholies, maintain their fidelity to the purely religious rites of the Church, but at the same time exhibit a spirit of protest which is every way noble and adof protest which is every way noble and admirable. They love the faith of their fathers, but are able to distinguish between what that requires and the arbitrary exactions of an ecclesiastical authority which has little respect for the rights of the individual intellect. A society of Italians recently organized has taken a large room in one of the best localities in Florence, and meetings for communion and worship are now held three or four evenings every week. I am told that several hundreds worship is conetimes assemble, and the worship is conducted after the somewhat simple style of our Methodist or Quakers. It is said that the in-terest and the numbers in attendance are in-

CALCULATING CONNUBIALITY-A WOMAN WHO COULDN'T AFFORD TO DIR.—A person having occasion to visit an old couple at Durham, of extremely penurious habits, found them holding counsel together upon a matter which apparently weighed heavily on the minds of both, and thinking it was respecting the probable dissolution of the wife, who was lying dangerously ill, proceeded to offer them all the consolation in his power; but was cutshorthy being informed that that was not exactly the which there was a state of the consolation of the was not exactly the subject they were discussing, but one which afflicted them still more deeply—viz., the cost of her funeral; and, to his astonishment, they continued their ghastly calculations until every item in the catalogue, from coffin to night cap, had been gone through with much grumbling at the rapacity of "the undertakers," when a bright thought suddenly struck the husband, and he exclaimed, Well, Janey, "the husband, and he exclaimed, Well, Janey," lass, ye may not die after all, ye ken."
"Deed, and I hope I may not, Robert," replied his helpmate, in a low, feeble voice, "for I am quite sure that we canna afford it."—Sunderland Herald.

MEANS WANTED FOR MOUNT VERNON .-- Although the whole purchase money of Mount Vernon has been raised, Miss Cunningham, the Southern matron, who is at the head of the association, hesitates about paying over the last instalment and taking the title, because she and her associate will then have the whole responsibility and charge of keeping the property in order and making the necessary repairs, without any funds in hand for the purpose. The ladies feel that the compara-tively small amount needed for this purpose ought to be expected from the rich, as the smount heretofore raised has mostly been fur nished, in small amounts, by persons of mod-

NOVEL DEANATIC EXHIBITION IN ARKANSAS. They have a very singular mode of doing things in Arkansas, and the drams is no exception. At a recent performance in one of the Red River counties, after the garden scene between the lovers in The Lady of Lyons, "Pauline" walks a tight rope and dances a Highland Fling, and "Claude" turns a somerset through two paper balloons, and swallows half-a-dozen forks, greatly to the delight of his sudience, who are so ardent in their admira tion that they carry him out of the vacated house, dignified by the name of the theater, and peur whisky anough down his throat to

A FIRST-CLASS MEDICAL SCOUNDERL -- Dr Howard, of Bradford, Vt., who has just been sentenced to a long imprisonment for abortion, was once indicted for a brutal rape upon the wife of a Dartmouth College student, but the sudden death of the lady saved him from pun-ishment. He married and buried the wife of a man who died under his care. He paid $1,200 to parties in Boston for malpractice, and refunded to the Burlington Bank $1,000 of which he had defrauded it. Three young women died under his hands from maltreat ment last summer.

PUBLIC EDUCATION IN GROEGIA.-It appears by the last message of the Governor of Georgia that in one hundred and two counties from which returns had been received, the whole number of children between the ages of whole number of children between the ages of eight and eighteen years, was one hundred and seven thousand eight hundred and twenty-five. The average tuition in the elementary branches was fifteen dollars and fifty cents per annum; in the higher branches twenty-six dollars. The whole number of schools is seventeen hundred and twenty-seven.

A WOMAN'S COMPREHENSION OF ACCOUNTS. Young Wife, (who has been puzzling her dear little head with her husband's affairs and wishes to be a ministering angel when pain and angulah wring the brow, and all that kind of thing you know) Dear Charles, I hate to have you leave me looking so troubled. Look McNabes so much money; now they have a great many things in their store I want; why don't you take it out in dry goods?

How THEY DETECT SCOUNDRELS IN INDIANA. One would be compelled to suppose from this paragraph, respecting an absconding swindler, in an Indianapolis paper, that a gentleman was a most marked, not to say suspicious, looking personage in Indiana: "He is of medium size, light hair and sandy whiskers, and of good address; wears fashionable clothes, and will be easily recognized by his gentlemanly demeanor.

A NEGRO SENTENCED TO BE HANGED .-- A nogro, the slave of R. W. Foard, of Concord, N. C., was sentenced to be hanged recently for ing taken advantage of the darkness to im-pose upon her the belief that he was her hus-band. If the jury had not returned a warding attempting to violate his master's wife, havband. If the jury had not returned a verdict of guilty, the negro would have been shot be-fore he left the prisoner's box.

A VAMPIRE LOCOMOTIVE.—A funeral pro-cession was moving along the highway, near the railway track, recently, near Bridgeport, Conn., as the Boston express train was passing, when the horse drawing the hearse became frightened, threw the driver from his seat, ipset the hearse and hurled the coffin along the road, the corpse, in the white habiliments of the grave, being forced out and nearly dashed to pieces against an opposing embankment.

AN OLD SCHENE TO HE CARRIED OUT .- An old scheme is to be revived at the South. The merchants of Richmond held a meeting last week to take the necessary steps to effect a direct trade between Europe and Richmond They pledged themselves from and after the first of January, not to give an order for foreign goods to any party, without an un-derstanding that such goods shall be shipped to James River, when practicable.

PRICE ONE CENT.

A NOVELIST'S MISTAKE CONCERNING THE A Novelist's Mistake Concerning the Passion He Inspired in a Russian Princess. A Russian Prince and Princess, who were in Paris during last season and dazeled the weak eyes of the Parisians with their splendid way of living, gave a large dinner party, soon after their arrival. They invited a novelist, whose tastes have often been admired. They did not know him, except by reputation, nor did he know them; still, the invitation was accepted. The literary man, who is as fond of admiration as a woman, soon took the floor and kept it, for he is really a charming talker. The dinner over, both master and mistress The dinner over, both master and mistress complimented him in the most flattering mancomplimented him in the most flattering man-ner on his success, and repeated to him the most delicate praises they had heard their guests bestow upon him. He was intoxicated with joy. As he was going out of the room, the Princess went up to him, expressed again to him her profound admiration, and slipped a sealed note into his hand.

"By Jove!" thought the literary man bow-ing profoundly to and looking tenderly at the

"By Jove!" thought the literary man bowing prefoundly to and looking tenderly at the Princess. "My usual luck—she is dead in love with me! Poor thing!" He put the letter in his pocket, and as he went home he kept thinking: "Egads! these Russians have a taste of the Great Catharine still in their way of making love! How evident it was I captivated her from the first! How she listened to me! Well, the little woman is rather agreeable is so-soish !"!! try her any how!" tened to me: well, the sagreeable, is so-soish, I'll try her any how!"
By this time he had reached home, and after he had taken off his coat he said: "Let's see he had taken off his coat he said: "Let's see now how she writes." He carefully opened the note and found a bank note for ave hundred francs! Imagine his annoyance, vexashe would have paid a piano-forte player. He sont back the note in a letter which he strove to render ironical, but which he only succeeded in making vexed.

RUSSIANS BUTCHERED AND CUT TO PIECES IN JAPAN.—A correspondent of the London Times, writing from the Bay of Jeddo, gives the fol-lowing particulars of the murder of Russians in Japan, heretofore briefly referred to in our foreign advices:

An officer, the steward, and one of the sailers of the Russian squadron were on shore in a Ja-panese settlement about eight o'clock in the evening buying provisions; and as they turned out of the main street of booths or wooden houses in this improvisioned settlement, the man carrying a bag of dollars, they were set upon by a number of armed Japanese—the officer and sallor were nearly hacked to

The steward, though, it is feared mortally wounded, still lives, having, after the first wound, succeeded in rushing into a shop. They were left in a pool of blood, the fiesh hanging in large masses from their bodies and limbs. The sailor was cleft through his skull to the nostrils, half the scalp sliced down and one arm nearly severed from the shoulder through the joint. The officer was equally mangled, his lungs protruding from a sabre gash across the body; the thighs and legs deeply gashed. The ruffians, it appears, were not content with simply killing and robbing, but must have taken pleasure in cutting them to pieces. All three, unfortunately, were unarmed; but numbers of people were either in sight or in close vicinity.

ENORMOUS MARINE LOSSES IN OCTOBER.—The Philadelphia Inquirer publishes an article giving the marine disasters which bave the month of October, in various parts of the world, the value of which reaches the enormous aggregate of $9,700,000, a sum greater than has been reported in any one month for more than thirty years. This em-braces but a small portion of the dissaters which are reported as occurring on the coast of England during the gales of 27th and 28th of October, when ninety-six vessels were totally wrecked and five hundred and thirty more or less damaged, involving a loss of $6,000,000. Adding the value of these vessels and their cargoes to the fearful amount above stated, the destruction of property would doubtless reach the sum of twelve mil lions of dollars.

DESPERATE AFFRAT IN GEORGIA-TWO MEN SHOOT EACH OTHER FATALLY .- An affray occurred at Hamilton, Harris County, Georgia, recently, between the doorkeeper of Everett's exhibition and a young man named John T. Williams, in which the former was killed and the latter mortally wounded. The difficulty happened at the door of the exhibition, when doorkeeper struck him; whereupon Williams drew a revolver and fired, two of the shots entering the doorkeeper's body, causing his death in a short time. As soon as Williams fired, the doorkeeper also drew a revolver and discharged its contents, which took effect in the fermer's breast and neck, and will terminate fatally.

ALWAYS AILING AND NEVER DYING .- There is a woman in Troy who is 103 years old. When she was a girl she used to have many "poor spells," and those who knew her "thought she wouldn't never live to be a woman." There is not a single person now alive with whom she was acquainted when she was twenty years old. We have known a number of well persons, who, though always complaining, never seemed really ill, and who survived dozens of their most healthy ac-quaintances. These alling creatures appear to verify the truth of Dryden's verse:

"And doomed to death, though fated not to die, Sound and Fury.—That notorious black-guard and bully, "Parson Browniow," of Tennessee, attended a pro-slavery indignation meeting at Lynchburg, Va., on the 1st, and made a characteristic speech. He said he would rather be with the South in Pandemo-nium than with the Abolitionists in Heaven. He also remarked that he intended to give his family instructions not to bury him in a Yankee coffin, but if, in case of emergency, they should have to do so, that they must leave both ends open, so that when the Devil and the Abelitionists came in at one end, he could go out at the other.

POSTAL ARRANGEMENTS IN VIRGINIA .-- GOV Wise having requested the opinion of Attorney-General Tucker, of Virginia, as to the bearing of the State laws upon the distribution of incendiary publications through the postoffice, that officer writes a long report on the subject, in which he takes the ground that the Federal power to transmit mail matter does not carry with it the power to publish and circulate, and, therefore, that local laws af-fecting such publications as the incendiary documents in question, may be enforced.

HETERODOX PUBLICATIONS IN BRITAIN—At the lowest calculation, it is said, not less than the lowest calculation, it is said, not less than 29,000,000 immoral publications are annually issued from the British press. In the year 1851, the purely infidel press of London issued publications to the amount of more than 13,-000,000; the issues of avowed atheism during the same period exceeded 640,000; in addition to these were issued 17,500,000 of a negative or corrupt character; and these are axclusive of what are properly denominated newspapers.

the public three seasons, and owing to its popularity and increased demand, we have been used that pelled to make two more sizes—having SIX sizes complete, suitable, from the smallest family up to discussion to the largest class boarding-house. The celebrity, these Stoves have gained for themselves can not be too highly appreciated, as every family having them in his can truly testify.

Thanking the public for their generous support, it is our determination to supply the wants of the community with the benefits which a practical machanical education can only supply.

We beg leave, most respectfully, to offer the following certificates and references of families using the Alligator, which will, at a glance, remore all doubts of its intrinsic merits:

For some mouths I have been using the Alligator conbined with its cleanliness, must eventually security to the owners a large chare of public patronage.

I have been using one of Messra Admark & Peckelover's Alligator Cook Stoves for some months, which gives entire satisfaction in every respect, and can therefully recommend it to those who are in wait of a superior cook stove.

B. H. LEAVITT.

For the last year I have been using the Alligator Cook Cooking Store, nanufactured by Messra. Adams & Peckover, which I consider a superior stove, and gives the utmost satisfaction. It is the only store I have found that cooks perfectly with coal.

HENRY VALLETTE.

For some time past I have been using one of Messrs. Adams & Peckover's Alligator Coal Cooking Store's Aligator Coal Cooking Store and the coal store of t

I cheerfully indorse the above.
